

LOOSE CHANGE PROGRAM

We have a Loose Change program which is a support group for children dealing with issues of families that are changing, such as going through a divorce or separation. By participating in these groups, it gives the child the chance to talk with many other children who are experiencing similar family changes. "Loose Change" is a positive expression of the significance of this group. It means to feel at home and to understand that there is a change or shift in a child's life which gives him/her an opportunity to freely grow. "Loose Change" (formerly called Banana Splits) type groups have been found to be an excellent way to help children cope with a difficult time in their lives.
